Merrill wondered aloud as to his courage. Or lack thereof.

Judd laughed that anyone who had lived with Sissy for a year
earned the medal exempting
him from all shaky masculine doubt!

That joke proved contagious, even degrading into drool.

Jeremy, our Brit, scalded the American
way of turning everything into a joke!

But Heather informed him that any race that said so many asshole things
like *The Battle of Waterloo was won
on the playing fields of Eton*, well…!

Carla pipes up then.

As a lesbian.

What else?